

Mary Ellen Trevino, President/CEO of P3S Corporation is our 2010 Small Business Person of the Year. Congratulations to Ms. Trevino as she has been recognized as the local, state, and national Small Business Person of the Year for 2010.

P3S Corporation is at the forefront of new and emerging technologies when and where it matters most!

In November 2010, the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA), San Antonio District Office accepted a sole source 8(a) set-aside offer from the Department of Health & Human Services, Center for Disease Control & Prevention for 8(a) firm, P3S Corporation. The Recovery Act project award, earmarked at $332,095 for one base year, will provide technical support service management, collections, evaluation, and data analysis for meningococcal and pneumococcal vaccine effectiveness and other vaccine-preventable diseases. The contract allowed the initial creation of 4 new jobs with potential for more in optional years if funding continues.

P3S Corporation, a firm specializing in Information Technology, Program Management, Financial Management, and Security services, recognizes the need for responsive, skilled and regulatory-compliant human resources to meet the growing demands of the federal government. In business since 2005, P3S Corporation is located in San Antonio, TX, with offices in Atlanta, GA and Dayton, OH.

“The SBA programs and services are working as intended, and have opened many doors for P3S Corporation,” Trevino said. “The Recovery Act will allow for us to help the Center for Disease Control meets its mission to improve the healthcare of the American people. P3S Corporation is honored to be a part of this mission-critical program.”

The firm was founded to allow government clients to obtain quality services necessary to meet their organizations’ missions and objectives. With the federal government’s increasing dependence on contracting out its services, P3S Corporation has become an expert in facilitating client transitions for ineffective or obsolete processes to cutting-edge solutions and technologies necessary to help the government meet its mission and function. This firm’s outstanding performance can be seen in its successes and support of a wide variety of government agencies, to include the Department of the Air Force, Department of the Army, Department of Health and Human Services, Department of Interior, National Institute of Standards & Technology, and the Department of Labor, among others.

P3S Corporation, with its core values, abilities and commitment to success – grew from 1 to more than 350 employees in 29 states in last five years, despite the recent economic downturn. The company is also testament to the effectiveness of the 8(a) Business Development Program, which P3S Corporation has been a part of since February 2006.

The success of P3S has afforded the opportunity to give back to its employees and the community. In 2009, Mary Ellen Trevino received the Minority Small Business Person of the Year during Minority Enterprise Development Week.
